CABERNET
SAUVIGNON

2020
MARGARET RIVER

With shared passions for growing grapes and making wine it was inevitable that Eloise Jarvis and Glenn Goodall would create something of their own; eminently drinkable wines that were a little bit kooki, drawing on their combined wealth of experience, long relationships with fantastic growers in Western Australia, and local knowledge.

Tasting Notes

“Medium-deep crimson. Intense blackcurrant, blueberry, bush-garrigue/ sage aromas. Lovely sweet-fruited wine with deep-set cassis, blueberry fruits lacy/chalky tannins, very good mid palate inkiness and some savoury oak nuances. Very attractive mid-weight wine with pure fruits, elegant structure and linear freshness.”

Winemaking

Local. Knowledge. A play on words that represent the depth of experience that we collectively and individually bring to making cabernet sauvignon together in Margaret River, our home. It's taken 23 years for us to make cabernet together - we have differences of opinion and preferences of fruit but always a respect for each other's perspectives; the choice of vineyard, who we work with and when to pick, the most important decisions in bringing a cabernet together. Glenn also has a formidable reputation. Through our work we both have the opportunity to see many vineyards throughout the region, a privilege that provides great perspective.
